

PRINT AND DIGITAL COPYING INFORMATION

Your school has a licence that provides you with convenient, pre-cleared permission to copy and distribute portions of publications within Access Copyright's extensive repertoire of covered titles.

What can I copy?

Through your licence, you can copy portions of any publication in Access Copyright's repertoire which totals more than 100-million titles. Use our convenient lookup tool: <http://discovery.accesscopyright.ca> to see if the work you wish to copy is covered under your licence.

How much of a covered title can I copy?

You can copy up to 20% of a book or an entire page or article from a magazine, journal or newspaper. This can include complete chapters, short stories, poems, articles, or entire artistic works in a larger publication.

How can I copy a covered title?

You can create copies by photocopying, faxing, scanning, printing, or by storing on a hard drive, USB stick or secure network.

How can I distribute or display copying?

You can distribute copies in handouts, by email, or posting or uploading to a secure network. You can also create copies for print and digital course collections and for classroom display (i.e. overheads, monitors, or whiteboards). Where reasonable, please include a credit to the author, artist or illustrator as well as to the source.

How much can I copy?

There is no limit on the number of copies you can make, as long as it is under the 20% limit per individual title.

What is Access Copyright?

Access Copyright is a non-profit, national organization, representing tens of thousands of Canadian creators and publishers who create the textbooks, novels, poetry, plays, children's books, artistic works and more that Canadians reach for everyday. For nearly 30 years, we have facilitated the remixing and sharing of content combined with an assurance that original creators and publishers also benefit, so that they can continue creating new and innovative works.
